

Cheryl and Joseph Cummins, Wash., on behalf of Cheryl's father, Herbert Bushong, graciously presenting a $10,000 check to the Foundation for its high school essay scholarship program. Thank you so very much, Mr. Bushong and messengers!

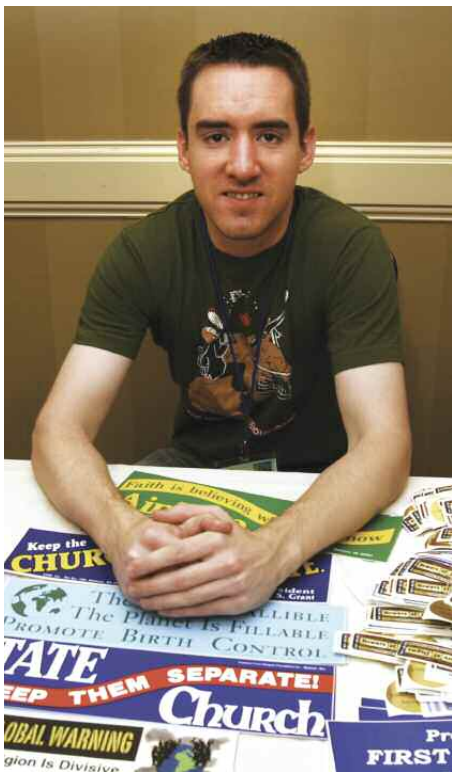

Beth Taylor, Wash., who gave the welcoming address, with her daughter Molly. Beth is author of the excellent Frommer's Guide to Seattle.

Rich Bolton, Wis., the Foundation's primary litigation attorney, with FFRF staff attorney Rebecca (Kratz) Markert, Wis.

Convention Candids

That's Mike Christensen, Wash. Thank you, Mike, for placing FFRF's "Imagine No Religion" billboard in Seattle!

Meg Bowman, Calif., feminist freethinker extraordinaire.

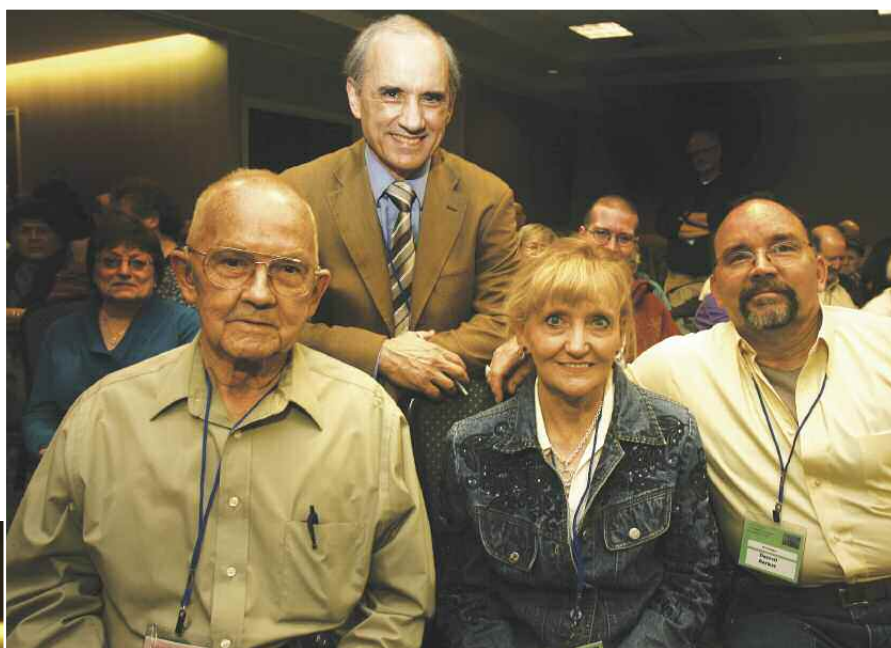

Bart Meltzer and Wendy Britton.

Bob Seeman, Calif., serves as volunteer local counsel of FFRF's billboard censorship lawsuit in Rancho Cucamonga.

BELOW: Ray Ideus, Wash., displaying the cross on the city of Spokane chaplain seal which he sued successfully to remove.

Margaret Downey, founder of FFRF's chapter, Freethought Society of Greater Philadelphia, dings her juice glass during the Moment of Bedlam at the convention's NonPrayer Breakfast.
