Re: Inappropriate and Unconstitutional Religious Endorsement

Dear Sheriff Cooper:

I am writing on behalf of the Freedom From Religion Foundation (FFRF) to urge you to remove "In God We Trust" from Greenup County Sheriff's Office vehicles. We were contacted by a concerned Greenup County resident. FFRF is a national nonprofit organization with more than 22,500 members across the country, including more than 150 members in Kentucky. FFRF's purpose is to protect the constitutional principle of separation between state and church.

It is our understanding that the controversial national motto, "In God We Trust," is displayed on Greenup County Sheriff's Office vehicles. Please see the enclosed photo.

It is inappropriate for the Office to display "In God We Trust" on government property. Statements about a god have no place on government-owned cars. Public officials should not use their government position and government property to promote their religious views. The Office protects all residents of Greenup County, including those who do not believe in a monotheistic god or any gods.

As you are aware, citizens interact with and rely on law enforcement officers during some of the most urgent and vulnerable times of their lives. These citizens should not be made to feel offended, excluded, and like political outsiders because the local government they support with their taxes oversteps its power by prominently placing a religious statement on Office vehicles. Nor should the Office turn religious citizens into "insiders." We think you'll agree that law enforcement must be even-handed and avoid any appearance of bias toward some citizens, and hostility toward others.

Citizens of Greenup County trust their elected officials to attend to their elected secular duties. Spending taxpayer time placing religious messages on patrol cars is beyond the scope of secular government. Further, in a time when citizens nationwide are increasingly distrustful of law enforcement officers' actions, it is frightening and politically dubious for the Office to announce to citizens that officers rely on the judgment of a deity rather than on the judgment of the law.

The history of the motto "In God We Trust" evidences no secular purpose; on the contrary, the motto was first adopted during the Cold War as a reaction to the purported "godlessness" of Communism. America's original motto was purely secular—"E Pluribus Unum" ("out of many, one")—and was selected by Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, and Benjamin Franklin.

Overall, 23% Americans identify as nonreligious.²¹ That 8-point increase since 2007²² and 15-point jump since 1990 makes the "nones" the fastest growing identification in America.²³ Nationally, about 35% of millennials are nonreligious.²⁴ It stands to reason at least some of your staff are nonreligious. "In God We Trust" is thus not even accurate. For it to be accurate, it would have to read, "In God Some of Us Trust." Having a religious motto on patrol cars also implies a religious test for employment.

On behalf of Greenup County residents and taxpayers, we urge you remove "In God We Trust" from all Greenup County Sheriff's Office vehicles. The Greenup County Sheriff's Office should respect the rights of conscience of all citizens, including those who in good conscience reject belief in a god. Please inform us in writing of the actions you are taking on this matter. We look forward to a reply at your earliest convenience.

Very truly,

Annie Laurie Gaylor
Co-President

Debate has been sparked in one Kentucky county with just four words printed on the back of their Sheriff's Office cruisers. Greenup County has now added "In God We Trust". What are your thoughts on the addition?
