RE: Lebanon Community School Corporation

Dear Ms. Dyer:

The school administration and board have reviewed your recent objection to the longstanding practice of reciting a prayer before the start of its board meetings. After consultation with its counsel, the board has decided to open the meeting with a moment of silence instead of a prayer. That practice has been followed since receipt of your letter, and I assume it will continue to be the practice. However, please understand the school board may decide to change their practice again should the courts provide more clarity or direction on this issue. This recent change in practice should not be deemed an acknowledgement of any illegality.

We respect your position on this issue but reserve our legal rights going forward.

Very truly yours,

PARR RICHEY FRANDSEN PATTERSON
